Grand Jury Holds Ford for Murder Of Harvey Clancy

Aged Phoenicia Bear Hunter Pleads Not Guilty Before Judge Foster in Supreme Court This Afternoon When Report Is Handed Down at 2 o'clock at Court House

28 Indictments

Report Gives 19 Open Indictments Naming 14 Defendants; Nine Are Sealed

Charles E. Ford, 76-year-old Phoenicia resident and outstanding bear hunter, is charged with second degree murder in an indictment handed down by the grand jury before Supreme Court Justice Sydney B. Foster this afternoon at 2 o'clock. He is charged with the fatal shooting of Harvey W. Clancy, 40, Phoenicia restaurant proprietor, October 22.

Ford pleaded not guilty to the charge.

The indictment was one of 19 opened in which 14 defendants were named.

Mr. Clancy, former justice of the peace of the village, and prominent in sportsmen's circles in Ulster county, is alleged to have been shot a few days prior to the shooting and later, it is said, Mr. Ford resented the deal and allegedly asked for the property back.

When Clancy refused, it is charged, Ford took his shot gun and waited at the barber shop adjoining Clancy's until Clancy and companions came out to look at a hunting dog. It is charged that Ford shot as the men attempted to gain the safety of the dog and when the first shot went off the second shot was fired striking Clancy as he had about gained the doorway through which his companions had been able to pass. Mr. Clancy died a few moments later and Ford was arrested at his home by State Trooper Soules.

District Attorney Cleon B. Murray took personal charge of the investigation and went to the scene where Ford was being held. Sheriff Molyneux and state troopers also arrived a few minutes later and assisted in the investigation. Later Ford was brought to jail, and held on a charge of murder, first degree, by County Judge Frederick G. Traver sitting as a committing magistrate. Ford has since been in jail.

The shooting was witnessed by several people.

The report of the jury follows: Charles E. Ford, murder, second degree.

50 Troopers Seek Tunkannock Girl's Killer; Body Found

Margaret Martin's Mother, at Point of Collapse, Expresses Relief Girl Not Held by White Slavers

Tunkannock, Pa., Dec. 22 (AP)—A half hundred State Troopers were called into a search of this isolated, snow-covered countryside today for the slayer who strangled attractive, 15-year-old Margaret Martin and attempted to conceal her nude, battered body in a creek.

Investigators expressed belief the slayer either was a sex maniac with a cruel, distorted mind or a round-up man for a white slave ring, who killed the girl when he feared he would be caught.

Slashed and mutilated, the body of the brown-haired business school graduate was found yesterday in a burlap bag, partially submerged in the three feet of water under an abandoned bridge.

"A hand, protruding from the crudely sewn sack, caught the attention of a young trapper as he wandered along the stream."

The discovery ended a search that had been made through all northeastern states since the girl left her home in Kingston, 30 miles away, last Saturday to keep a daylight street corner appointment with a man who had telephoned her an offer of a job.

Coroner Ray W. Greenwood said Miss Martin "definitely was murdered." An autopsy performed last night by Dr. G. C. Guyler, of Walkers-Barre, N. A. B. Davenport, of Tunkannock, disclosed, they said, that death resulted from strangulation.

The girl had been slashed across the abdomen and bruised. Her body was bound with a clothline, with both hands jammed under the chin. Fingerprints were found on her neck, the physicians said, and these and the clothesline were checked for possible clues.

The girl's mother, Mrs. John Martin, near collapse, under the strain, was among those who identified the body. Later she said:

"We would rather know she is dead than believe she was in the hands of white slavers."

Miss Martin's father is a mung foreman and minor political figure at Kingston.

832 Parcels Sold At County Sale

Ulster Bids in 548 Pieces of Property, Treasurer's Office Says in Report

At the tax sale of properties in Ulster county on which taxes for the present year remained unpaid, held at the court house yesterday, a total of 832 parcels were put up for sale. Of this number 284 parcels were sold to individuals. The county found it necessary to bid in the other 548 parcels.

Many of the 548 parcels bid in by the county had been sold to the county at last year's tax sale and had not been redeemed, making it necessary for the county to bid them in at this year's sale in order to protect its previous lien.

The county treasurer's office was busy today sending out the tax sale memos to those who bid in properties yesterday.

County Treasurer V. T. Pine said this morning that any of the more than 500 parcels bid in by the county can be assigned to any individual who wishes to take over the lien. Persons interested may call at the county treasurer's office and look over the list of properties taken in and select any that they may desire.

Following is a list of the properties sold, by towns, showing the number in each town sold to individuals and the number bid in by the county:

'Coster' Suicide Note Places Failure Blame

Late President of Drug Firm Tells How Various Persons 'Have Bled McKesson & Robbins White'

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—F. Donald Coster, born Philip Muscia, said in a suicide note made public today that "bankers, lawyers, auditors, appraisers and incompetent high-salaried executives have bled McKesson & Robbins white."

The text of the note follows:

"Bankers, lawyers, auditors, appraisers and incompetent high-salaried executives have bled McKesson & Robbins white. The company should have been in receivership at the time of the crash one year after its reorganization. I have tried to hold it up to stare off the inevitable—no man has ever worked harder or received less pay to make something work out for the interest of all."

Region 3 Exhibit To Display Many Places in Ulster

Panoramic Mural at World's Fair Will Include 67 Outstanding Pictures Taken Throughout County

Chairman Albert Kurdt and his fellow members on the committee to arrange for exhibit of Ulster county scenes in the Region 3 section of the New York state building at the coming New York World's Fair have a right to feel pleased at the large number of pictures selected to be included in the panoramic mural which will adorn the three sides of the regional exhibit.

Region three is composed of four counties—Ulster, Sullivan, Orange and Rockland—and out of some 150 or 160 pictures which will be used to represent the region, 67 have been selected from those submitted by the Ulster county committee.

Enlargements of the pictures accepted will be made and all will be combined in the composite picture which will adorn two walls.

Mr. Kurdt says that as shown in the murals the pictures will bear no labels, but will be shown as representations of historical places, fine scenery and sporting scenes to be found in the region.

As a matter of fact many of the pictures accepted did not designate just what they were, Mr. Kurdt said. Among the Ulster county pictures which will appear are:

- The old Senate House, Kingston.
- Suydam farm house, Kingston.
- The old Van Steenburgh house, now owned by Dr. Bibby, Kingston.

Early Figures Indicate $40,884 Budget Gain

Hearing Will Be Held Next Week on Tentative Budget Which Shows That County Tax Reduction Is Offset by Amount in Maturing Bonds of $25,365,700

City Deficit for 1938 $6,399.48

Hurricane Damage Is Said by Mayor to Account for Fact That Year Ends With Deficit Instead of Surplus

Kingston's tax rate for 1939 would be as near the 1938 rate of $38.92 per thousand valuation as possible.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman when seen today indicated that he planned to keep the 1939 rate at the same level as the 1938 rate. He said that a public hearing on the budget would be held next week, but that the date was not yet fixed as he was still at work on the budget.

Mayor Heiselman has moved out of his office in the city hall to a location where he can work undisturbed and for several days now has been busy going over departmental estimates and in making up the tentative budget for next year, and in preparing his annual message to the Common Council which will be delivered at the council meeting on New Year's.

The mayor when seen today gave out some interesting figures with which he must deal in establishing the tax rate for next year.

While there is a reduction in the county tax on the city of $25,289.04, it is offset by the increase in the amount to be paid in maturing bonds of $25,365.70.

The table below indicates how the five appropriations and revenues compare with those of last year.

1939 Appropriations	Increase	Decrease
Debt Service (Maturing Bonds)	$ 25,365.70
County Tax		$ 25,289.04
1938 Deficit		6,399.48
	$ 31,765.18	$ 25,289.04
Net increase in Appropriations	$ 6,476.14
Revenues
County Welfare Rebate		$ 10,331.08
1937 Surplus		24,076.84
Net decrease in revenues		$ 34,407.92
Net budget increase		$ 40,884.06

Two Men Are Held On Larceny Count

Brother of Sportswear Operator and Negro Aid Arrested on Krayem's Complaint

Samuel Pleau and Weldon Gholston, both of Brooklyn, were arrested Wednesday evening by Salem Krayem of East Strand, who charged them with an attempt to commit the crime of larceny. The hearing was set down for Friday in police court.

Back of the two arrests lies an interesting story. From what Mr. Krayem informed the authorities he had leased the third floor of the building at 38 Broadway to Morris Pleau of Brooklyn, who operated it as a factory under the name of the Kingston Sportswear. The factory was opened some time ago under a two year lease. It operated until Thursday when it closed.

This morning seven of the young women who had been employed at the factory were at the city hall to interview Judge Matthew V. Cahill. They claim that Pleau owes them two weeks wages, which they have not received.

Mr. Krayem claims that Pleau owes him two months rent on the factory, which was located on the third floor of the lower Broadway building.

Mr. Krayem said he was in his store on East Strand last evening (Continued on Page 14)

Leland Calls Federal Writs 'Diabolical Persecutions'

Portland, Ore., Dec. 22 (AP)—Dr. R. G. Leland, director of the bureau of medical economics of the American Medical Association, called the federal indictments returned Tuesday against members of the District of Columbia Medical Society and five A. M. A. officials, the "most diabolical persecutions of the medical profession we have ever witnessed."

Speaking before the Multnomah County Medical Society last night, Dr. Leland, one of those indicted, said the grand jury presumably acted "because the medical profession has gone too far in medical economics."

Many Popular Nuts Are Grown in This Country

Most of our popular varieties of nuts are native Americans. The only real foreigners are English walnuts, almonds and the big chestnuts from Italy or Japan. No countries in the world are as rich in native nuts as "North and South America," declares Martha Harmon in the Philadelphia Record.

Oddly enough, one of the most popular varieties does not happen to be a nut, at all, though we call it "cashew nut." It is the external seed of the West Indian cashew fruit, growing at the broad tip of the pear-shaped fruit.

Then there are peanuts, which we are solemnly told are not nuts, either, though botanists say they are. Centuries ago, the peoples of Central America cultivated this plant and a number of varieties have been found buried with their mummies. When blossoms are in full bloom, long root-like stems grow and bury themselves underground and there produce the seeds or nuts. Other names for this nut are goober, groundnut, mani and monkey nut. Like the cashew, chestnut and pistachio, the peanut must be roasted to be edible.

Among the other popular nuts are the hickory nut, chestnut and pecan. Butternuts and black walnuts are the best-known of the true American walnuts but the timber of the latter tree is so valuable that most of the big wild trees have been cut down for lumber.

Although America is the home of many varieties of nuts, some have not been widely popularized and are hardly known. We think of acorns as hog food, but the Indians made a very good meal or flour from them to use in bread or cakes and some white oaks bear a sweet acorn that can be eaten raw.

The little three-cornered beech-nuts are delicious. They grow in northern states. The chinquapin of the south and central states and the chinquapin of California are dwarf chestnuts. Pine or pinon nuts are used largely by the Indians.

Eleven Is Holy Number

In Switzerland Center At Soleure, busy watchmaking center in the Jura, Switzerland, 11 is a holy number, according to a correspondent in the Los Angeles Times. The town, which dates back to 272 A. D., has 11 churches and chapels and 11 public fountains. Marble stairs lead in three times 11 steps to the entrance of the cathedral of St Ursus, whose interior is adorned with 11 marble altars and 11 bells hang in the belfry.

A medieval clock tower with a complicated timepiece is another feature. The clock shows a king seated on his throne and at his sides stand two figures, one representing a warrior and the other death.

As soon as the hour strikes, His Majesty opens his mouth and counts the strokes of the clock with his scepter; the warrior marks the quarter hours by placing his right arm on his chest, and Death, with a grave nod of his head, reverses his hourglass every 60 minutes.

Black Cat Superstitions

Meet a black cat at the beginning of the morning and at once you have a nice warm feeling that it's going to be a lucky day for you, says a writer in London Tit-Bits magazine. The origin of this pleasant superstition reaches back a long way, to the days of early Egypt. There the cat was regarded as a sacred animal, and, since the majority of the cats were sandy colored or tabby, a pure black cat was held in particular reverence. Aelurus, the Egyptian deity, was represented by a figure having a human body and a cat's head. Though generally accounted luck-bringers, in the Middle Ages black cats were, on the other hand, associated with witchcraft, and a powerful ingredient of a witch's foul brew was the brains of a newly slaughtered black tom cat. In the East, where cats roam about wild, a black cat passing you on your right side is considered lucky, but on your left, unlucky.

Keystone in Arch Bridge

The stone at the very top of the simpler forms of arch bridge is known as the keystone, since it is the one that holds the whole structure together. The two end stones are called springers. Due to the nature of its construction, with wedge-shaped stones, the arch exerts at its spring, which is the level of the base of the springers, not only a downward weight but also a tendency to spread, which is known as thrust. For an arch to remain stable it is necessary for this thrust to be resisted adequately by abutments, buttresses, or, if the arch is a part of a building, by the walls themselves.

When Britain Owned France

Almost 600 years ago an English army invaded France, and 76 years after this invasion a British king was crowned in Paris. The city of Calais, France, which remained in English hands for more than 200 years, has given the world one of the brightest examples of patriotic devotion when, upon the first coming of the English to lay siege to the city, six of her leading citizens, with halters about their necks, presented themselves to the invading English king, offering their lives to ransom their city from destruction.

NEWBURGH INVESTIGATION

Governor Lehman has ordered that a special grand jury investigate alleged illicit liquor operations in the city of Newburgh and Orange county. At the same time the Governor ordered Attorney General John J. Bennett to supersede District Attorney Hirschberg of Orange county. Supreme Court Justice Ely W. Personius, of Elmira, was named presiding justice.

The Governor's action followed indictment of 45 persons by a federal grand jury last fall after an investigation of alleged illicit operations. The forthcoming probe will go further than the liquor operations and will include a probe of bribery, corruption or misconduct of any public officer in Orange county; investigation of any act of gambling or vice; investigation of the issuance and renewal of firearms permits and investigation of all acts of misconduct or negligence in the performance of official duties on the part of any officer * * * of the county of Orange or of any civil or other division thereof.

In Poughkeepsie, the sheriff's investigating committee of the Board of Supervisors is discussing a proposed probe of the sheriff's department. The Dutchess investigation is the aftermath of campaign charges.

In Ulster county as far as known there is no contemplated state probe of any crime conditions. Recently in this county local officials conducted gambling drives which led to a number of arrests. Gambling still goes on in the city and county, but not to the extent that it did before the drive. Authorities who are alive to violations of the law and do something about it to stamp it out need not fear investigation by the state in their communities.

DEMOCRACY VS. WAR

The Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick draws two lessons from the world's current troubles.

"We are learning," he says, "that whatever else war does, it always creates more problems than it solves. You young people never will know with what high idealism we entered the Great War to destroy the kind of thing for which the Kaiser stood and open the door to a new era of democracy."

"When today the rabble-rousing starts again, as though war would now solve the problem of Hitler, the lesson of history stands up out of our present crisis, fairly shouting: War gave you Hitler; war presented you with Stalin and Mussolini; that's where dictatorships come from."

Again, he says: "We are learning, unless we are incurably stupid, that we cannot take democracy and liberty for granted."

Evidence of such learning he finds in the "rising tide of concern about free democracy, fresh understanding of its meaning, appreciation of it, faith in it, and devotion to its cause."

It looks to many as if another devastating war might yet be forced on a reluctant world. But foreknowledge of its inevitable destructiveness is driving the democracies to find a peaceful and constructive way to cure the causes of war.

THIS IS YOUR WAR

"Keep the fifth man alive!" That is the slogan which is now being employed in a drive to reduce the normally heavy winter automobile accident toll by at least 20 per cent.

If the United States can keep up the pace set in the first ten months of the year, the 1938 death toll will be 8,000 less than 1937's. We are in the midst of the crucial period now. December is always a bad month. And, looking into next year, January, February and March, with snow, ice and short days, constitute a period of maximum hazard.

The organized safety movement has reached a high point of efficiency. The technique of accident reduction has been amazingly perfected. Sporadic, desultory, localized safety campaigns have proven almost worthless. Instead, the safety education movement, supported by the casualty insurance industry through its National Conservation Bureau, state governments and numerous commercial and non-commercial groups, is attempting, with a high degree of success to reach every motorist every day.

Thus, the safety experts are doing all they can—and they are doing the biggest and best job in their history. The rest—and this is something you can't repeat too often—is up to the motorist and the pedestrian. The safety workers can offer you advice—but they can't open your ears and eyes if you insist on being deaf and blind. They can show you the road to safety—but they can't make you take it.

This war is your war. It is being fought to save your life, the lives of your friends and families, your property. Enlist in it now.

Now the eminent economics authority, Westbrook Pegler, insists that employers shouldn't hire "women who don't need jobs," and all that remains is to determine which women should be sentenced to sit in a rocking chair doing fancy work.

They say Douglas Corrigan insisted on writing his own book himself, when everybody knows the right way—or at least, the usual way—would have been to have a ghost writer.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act. FEW DOCTORS DIE OF DIABETES.

I have spoken before of one of four brothers—the only one who reached the age of three score and ten. When asked why he had lived to seventy years of age and his three brothers had died in their early fifties, he replied that he guessed it was because he had always had a poor appetite. It was this inability to overload his stomach and give his heart, bloodvessels, and kidneys too much work, that had preserved his life.

While it might be better for most of us to eat less food, a combination of a little more exercise with less food would prevent that all too common ailment—diabetes. It is only too true that despite all our knowledge, diabetes is increasing.

There is, however, one class of citizens, in whom diabetes is not causing great havoc these days. This class is the physician.

An interesting advertisement of one of the large insurance companies published in Hygeia is headed "Few Doctors Die of Diabetes."

Few doctors who have diabetes die of the disease. Why?

Because they know how to keep it under control. Insulin is the greatest modern defense against death from diabetes. It is now so dependable that many doctors feel justified in promising adult diabetic patients almost as long a life with the disease as without it. With insulin, a diabetic child can grow, study, and play with other children in nearly even terms.

"Diabetes is most frequent among middle-aged overweight persons and in those in whose family there is a history of the disease. But many people predisposed to diabetes may escape it by keeping underweight through correct diet and exercise."

It is a sad fact but true that many cases with a mild form of diabetes, because it is mild, neglect to follow the diabetic diet and absolutely refuse to take insulin although the new form of insulin—protamine insulin—need only be injected once a day. A great many of them die needlessly. The patient with severe diabetes, on the other hand, because it is severe, follows his diet and takes insulin daily, thus living out a useful, happy life.

"The usual reward for obedience to the doctor's orders is added years of comfort and life. Doctors know this and that is why few of them die of diabetes."

Overweight and Underweight

As you know, overweight is one of the forerunners of diabetes. Should you be watching your calories, fats and starches? Underweight, on the other hand, is one of the forerunners of tuberculosis. Watch for it in your children. Send for Dr. Barton's helpful booklet entitled "Overweight and Underweight." Send your request to The Bell Library, 247 West 43rd Street, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling, and mention the name of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

NEW YEAR'S LOVE

The Characters

Noel Marchand, a beautiful young actress.
 Allan Collins, a young man Noel secretly likes.
 David Norris, Noel's wealthy suitor.

Yesterday: The play fails through temporarily. Noel plans to visit Allan and his mother in spite of David.

Chapter Seven

Preparations

"I ought to feel gay about the holiday, but I don't!" David's voice was accusing.

It was two days before Christmas. Noel and he had just finished luncheon in the living-room of David's Fifty-seventh Street apartment and they were standing by the window, looking out over the cold East River.

Noel was taking the afternoon train to Claiborne. A few hours later, David would board the boat for a short Christmas cruise to Bermuda. She knew he was blaming her somehow because he was going alone.

"The trip will be good for you," Noel offered timidly.

For answer, he pulled her close to him. "Oh, Noel! You're being so cruel!"

She suffered his embrace for a moment. But when he kissed her as though, he couldn't let her go, she drew back.

"David, isn't it time for me to be leaving?" Noel asked desperately.

Vitality seemed gone from his voice as he answered, "I guess so."

But he wasn't finished, yet. From his pocket, David drew out a small box and opened it. Noel couldn't resist a gasp of admiration for the beautiful square emerald set in a thin platinum band.

David reached for her left hand. "Will you wear it here?" His own finely formed hand, holding her finger.

Noel thought she would cry. I don't want to hurt him, she thought. But she managed a quavering protest.

"I wouldn't be fair; when I feel a 'I do.'"

"I—see," David dropped her hand. Noel saw his lips tremble. After a trying interval of silence he reached for her right hand.

"Then I want you to have it anyway. I got it for you," Noel protested but he slipped on it ring "The stone is like you, Noel—beautiful in a cool, serious way. But there's fire deep in it—for some people."

Noel was trying. "You're such a wonderful friend, David. I wish I could feel as you want me to."

David winced at that but he patted her shoulder and kissed her lightly on the forehead.

"Don't cry, angel child," soothingly he told her. "We can't help our emotions."

They left soon after, stepped at Noel's hotel, and her luggage. At the station when David said "Good-bye," she admonished her.

"Be a good girl, and have a nice Christmas. I'll telephone you when I get back." Carelessly he pulled the collar under her chin. "I'll think of you very much, Noel."

Noel kissed him quickly and he went out of the car. A mist came between her and the disappearing figure. The train started slowly.

Towns, fields of white, ice-laden bare limbs of trees made the idiosyncratic scenery out the window. Noel rode the miles toward Claiborne. She had a feeling she was somehow to blame, that she'd spoiled David's Christmas for him.

Through the few hours of the monotonous journey, she thought of David, his kind, less to her. As they neared Claiborne, she threw off the mood of introspection and when she reached the station, saw Allan Collins' smiling face on the platform.

A Snowfall

NOEL waved from the steps. She felt his hand grasp hers warmly.

"Hello, there," His voice was as friendly. "Your fellow conspirators back at the house, impatiently waiting for your coming." Noel looked up into his face, answered his welcome. While he took her luggage and led her toward the parked car at the back of the station, she saw before her a scene that looked like the painting of an old-fashioned Christmas.

"Didn't I promise you a fresh snowfall?" he asked jovially. "It came in the night." He was wrapping a robe around her feet. Noel snuggled into the seat beside him and they were off through the wide road, bordered with snow-covered trees.

"Your unseen guests w. be here tomorrow," Allan told her as they sped around a bend.

"Aren't they your guests, too?" she asked.

"Well, they're not what I'd ask for," Allan's voice was coolish. But he added encouragingly, "I'll play the host to a fare-thee-well. Don't worry about that, Noel."

"I'm not worrying about anything you do," she replied.

Where the road narrowed, they turned into a cleared-off driveway and Noel saw a rambling white house, nestled among tall trees. It was such a place as she'd dreamed of having for her own. Well, she was here—and Christmas was coming.

Almost Ready

WHEN Willy Nilly returned to Puddle Muddle with another load of toys and with the boxes filled with nuts and raisins, apples, oranges, tangerines, hard candies, the ducklings were all bundled up and ready to start for their trip.

"Quack, quack," quacked Willy Nilly. "Wings, I don't mind going on the last trip. It has been so exciting waiting for this moment to come."

Everyone was talking now at the same time. All the Puddle Muddlers were comparing notes about their adventures at Santa's workshop, telling what they had seen, what they had done and the way they had traveled with such flying, leaping, exciting speed.

"All right," said Willy Nilly, who had been busy ever since he had got back with the arrangement of toys, eating, resting just a little bit, "we're ready."

"Quack, quack," quacked the ducklings. "We're off. But they had not finished even that short little speech before they were out of sight!"

While they were away the Puddle Muddlers were busy fixing their presents for each other and for Willy Nilly. They had string and kindlings and nuts for Willy Nilly, and they had tied up his house as a surprise. He had been so rushed upon each return trip that so far he had not noticed what they had done, but they knew he would notice later on.

In the meantime the ducklings had been to the workshop, had been given a job of picking up crumbs from gingerbread men and cookies—a job the ducklings certainly loved!

Woodstock Unit
 Woodstock, Dec. 22.—Nearly 20 members of the Woodstock Home Bureau met last week at the home of Mrs. George Bassow for a lesson on care of the hands. Mrs. Bassow, the Woodstock leader of the Home Bureau's course in good grooming, demonstrated helpful, lotions, exercises and treatments for the care of hands and nails.

Each member was presented with a sample of a homemade hand lotion, and its recipe, recommended by the Home Bureau.

The next meeting, the second lesson in foods will be given by the foods leader, Mrs. Bessie Cohn, on January 4 in the American Legion rooms over the Little Art Shop.

Two recent announcements of interest to Woodstockers are those of the winning of the award for the highest increase in membership this year, and the fact that the Ulster County Fair, publicly which won the prize for Ulster county was written by the Woodstock member, Betty Schrader.

Membership in the Woodstock unit was increased by 15 new members this year, doubling last year's enrollment.

Washington Daybook

By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Our Christmas story for this year is how some applejack, a Negro servant, and an enterprising general named Washington gave this country one of its happiest yuletides.

Scarcely a man is now alive who hasn't seen the picture of Washington crossing the Delaware, his foot braced riskily against the gunwale of a shallow boat as he led his hungry, shivering forces in a surprise march to capture the hired German soldiers fighting England's colonial war.

But we have seen might few who knew about the applejack? the servant. It was this way:

Washington and his colonial troops had suffered one defeat after another at the hands of the British, not such tin-hat soldiers as some of our writers imply.

Washington had seen to it that all boats on the Trenton side were either pulled to the Pennsylvania shore or destroyed. So the pursuing British and Hessians had to wait to cross on the ice. None had formed by Christmas, but great ice wedges were crunching down the river from upstream.

Washington badly needed a victory to bolster the wavering courage of the colonists.

On the afternoon of Dec. 25 he divided his forces into three wings, one to cross downstream to cut off

British troops at Bordentown, another to cross just below Trenton. Washington led the main body upstream eight miles to make the crossing.

When Washington's forces hit at daybreak, Rall was in his night clothes. Washington lost two soldiers, the Hessians a hundred. Nine hundred surrendered, cut off a few at a time without leaders. It was a nice Christmas gift to the colonial cause.

Christmas Gift
 THE German troops and officers had discovered a new and interesting drink. It went smoothly and kicked like a mule. Farmers called it applejack.

standard design to its members.
The faculty committee consists of Mrs. Snyder, Miss Hull, Mr.
Polack and Mr. Kurtzacker.
Miss Agnes Scott Smith, Miss

French Plan Betterment

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP)—The Daladier government today considered plans for the development of French Guiana, including abolition of its notorious prison colony on Devil's Island. The main motive, informed sources said, was a cabinet determination to defend French supply lines to South America in case of a war in Europe. The navy ministry now is drawing plans for naval maneuvers in the South Atlantic and West Indies early in 1939.

Berlin, Dec. 22 (AP)—A strong
German protest over a speech by Secretary of the Interior Harold
L. Ickes attacking dictators was submitted to the acting secretary of state by the German charge d'affaires in Washington, it was learned today in foreign office circles. These quarters said Germany regarded Ickes' statements as "impudent and insulting."

Swindle Kings Find Suicide The Easiest Way Out

Such Men As Coster Dread To Face The Music

By JACK STINNETT
 AP Feature Service Writer
 New York—When the bubbles burst, the swindle kings can't take it.

When F. Donald Coster, president of McKesson and Robbins, stood before a bathroom mirror in his palatial Fairfield, Conn., home and ended his amazing life of crime with a 38-caliber pistol, he became the fourth great fraud to take "the easiest way out" in the last seven years. A fifth jumped bail and fled but was captured before his ship cleared port.

In less than a fortnight of investigation Coster's financial machinations within the $86,000,000 drug firm were bare. Almost simultaneously came the discovery that the greatly respected, luxury-loving wizard of finance was really Philip Musica, twice-convicted swindler.

The house of cards which the one-time Italian cheese importer had been building for 12 years under the name of Coster crashed even before all of Coster's fantastic ups and downs could be uncovered.

Match King Tumbles
 In March 1932 Ivar Kreuger, the Swedish Match King and international industrialist, shot himself in his sumptuous Paris apartment. Afterward it was discovered that the assets of "one of the world's richest men" were mostly ledger manipulations running into hundreds of millions.

In January 1934, in a cabin in the little Alpine village of Chamoni, the body of Serge "Handsome Alex" Stavisky was found. Police announced that the central figure in the $12,800,000 French municipal pawnshop scandals had taken his own life.

In the early summer of the same year, C. C. Julian, one-time millionaire oil promoter in California, at the height of his wealth, lived like an oriental prince. Stavisky spent lavishly and entertained in the highest social circles in France. Ponzi had a palatial home at Lexington, Mass., and was driven about in an enormous cream-colored automobile. Coster-Musica's pride was a beautiful 132-foot yacht on which he often cruised and entertained.

Kreuger, Stavisky and Coster-Musica moved in the highest society. Kreuger walked with kings and potentates; lent them millions. Stavisky's box at the races was next to France's president, and when "Handsome Alex" perished was uncovered, a cabinet went down with him. Coster-Musica was one of Wall Street's gods (the second this year to "take the rap," but Richard Whitney's case was different from these and not based on the kind of theft that would place him among the great swindlers).

What the end of the story in the drug company case will be is not determined, of course, but in every other instance there has been a trail of tears behind the swindle kings.

Ponzi's original investors, back in the 1920's were said to have put $15,000,000 into his international exchange scheme in Boston and thousands more were sunk in his Florida real estate.

Although Julian had stepped out of the Julian Petroleum Co. in Los Angeles when that company collapsed, it was referred to as a $100,000,000 company. His successors were sent to the penitentiary. In Oklahoma, Julian's second company sold stock and interests to the tune of $3,500,000.

Tragedy Follows
 Suicides, riots in which more than a score of persons were killed, and murders followed in wake of French pawnshop scandals. Kreuger's suicide shook several nations and the losses to investors ran into nine figures.

draw a suspended sentence later in connection with the "Human Hair Swindles," in which he mulcted eastern banks of nearly $1,000,000 on false bills of lading for human hair importations.

Ponzi's first sentence was a brief term in Atlanta for smuggling aliens across the Canadian border in 1910. Stavisky had been in trouble ten years before the pawnshop scandals.

Others Serve Time
 In most instances hirelings and associates of these "master minds of finance" have suffered legal penalties.

Several of Julian's employees pleaded guilty. Nine of Stavisky's associates were found guilty. Several directors of some of Kreuger's many companies had to answer to society for their master's crimes.

Coster-Musica's three brothers, associates in his many operations, are already under arrest.

Criminal history continues to repeat itself—even when the case is so fantastic it takes one's breath away.

Hollywood Sights And Sounds

By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—The movie tide keeps moving west. This week it caught up with Jane Withers, the chubby child star, and swept her along to her best picture since she gained fame as an antidote for Shirley Temple.

Don't expect "The Arizona Wildcat" to be a great movie. It's just a good one—and I mean a movie. A movie with horses, shooting, wild riding, scenery, street fighting, and all you'd expect of a rip-snorting western.

JANE plays the adopted daughter of Leo Carrillo, a retired bandit who (in the Arizona of 1870) is an honest stage driver. Leo is a family man, with five boys and a fine wife, and his banditry has been of the Robin Hood type. Jane is always playing Miss Fix-it, recalls him to the saddle to rescue the nice youth (William Henry) who is hounded by Sheriff Henry Wilcox. Before it's finished, the picture proves that the sheriff, despite his badge, is actually the brains of all the racketeering and robbing that Bill Henry is innocent and therefore worthy of the love of Schoolmarm Pauline Moore, and that Jane is a pretty clever youngster to bring all this about.

Herbert I. Leeds, directing, kept it all moving as a western should. Carrillo and Rosita Harlan as his wife figure in some of the best scenes. "The Arizona Wildcat" may not be a great movie, but it's still the best 20th Century-Fox has given its No. 2 star.

METRO'S Hardy family went west last week, but their screen rivals, the perennial Joneses, are having troubles enough at home.

Daughter Shirley Deane and Son-in-Law Russell Gleason present the family with a granddaughter—and what happens then makes "Everybody's Baby" a story with the family appeal that has characterized past Jones successes.

The young mother, like all the young mothers in the Jones town, falls under the spell of a medical quack (Reginald Penny) who preaches what he insists is the latest thing in child-rearing.

Adherence to his system eventually separates the youthful parents, and threatens wholesale disruption of all the local domesticity—until wily Grandmother (Florence Roberts) works out a scheme.

"Everybody's Baby" is tailored to popular comedy tastes, is well stocked with "homey" situations along with liberal slapstick.

Association Formed

Batavia (AP)—The New York State Bus Tariff Association, an organization of intra-state operators, has been formed here with Lawrence H. Schultz, of Batavia, president of the Western New York Motor Lines, Inc., as chairman.

Schultz said the new body proposes to make combined joint rates on long trips over two or more lines and to place tariffs in all ticket offices in the state. The move, he said, would result in reduced fares on such trips. He said he expected all 80 operators in the state to affiliate with the unit within a year.

The hour is almost at hand, twelve months in the making... MERRY CHRISTMAS!

Picked Wrong Hotel
Buffalo (AP)—Two strangers entered the lobby of Buffalo's 12-story city hall and asked for "two rooms with bath." William F. Mahoy, lobby information clerk, at first seemed a prank, but was informed the pair was in earnest. He misguidedly directed them to a hotel across the street.

(By The Associated Press)

New Ivory
Shiloh, N. Y.—J. T. Cameron, 81, is getting a Christmas present that only nature can give—but seldom does. Cameron decided he needed artificial teeth. Lockport (AP)—Niagara county has literally been put on the map. The federal government has just completed an aerial survey of the county for the agricultural conservation program. W. Lewis Shumaker, head of soil conservation work in the county, said the results of the survey had been put into 187 maps, which in section pictures enlargements of 18 by 23 inches, show the entire county from the air.

Twins Give 'Eye Trouble'
Perry (AP)—There are times when teachers in Perry grammar school polish their eye-glasses just to make sure it's not double vision. Among the pupils are five sets of twins, ranging in age from six to fourteen.

Testimony in Suit Brought by Deyos

Abram Deyo of Highland was sworn this morning as the first witness in the action brought by Mr. and Mrs. Deyo against Jewel Tea Company to recover money for personal injuries and for damage to the Deyo car which was in an accident at Port Jervis in August, 1933. He said the truck of the defendant came up behind him and passed and cut in front of their car, which was operated by Mrs. Deyo.

The Deyo car was not struck, but the plaintiff testified that the truck cut in so sharply ahead that it was necessary to swing to the side of the road and the car left the road and struck a tree. He denied that he had told Deputy Sheriff Donald Tinnie, who investigated the crash, that he had taken the wheel from Mrs. Deyo and pulled the car sharply to the right when the truck narrowly missed the car. He said the truck was stopped about 10 feet ahead of their car after the accident.

Dr. Frederick Snyder testified that he had operated on Mrs. Deyo's knee which had been fractured by the crash, and who was confined to the hospital here for several weeks.

A. W. and J. A. Lent appear for the plaintiffs and Mr. MacAfter and David Schoentag of Wiswall, Walton, Wood & MacAfter, appear for the defendant.

at any profit to the plant. The heavy secret campaign fund paid by bankers enabled them to turn the cards on me as the goat, incidentally making me the political pawn of three investigating agencies to see which could get the jump and glory on the other.

"I have not tried to ruin the company or stockholders. If I did I could have sold my holdings in 1928 for over $3,000,000. Instead, I am a ruined man through the treachery of legal intrigue.

"From time to time and the rest of the directors who are now running to cover some of them either had knowledge or were totally unfit to serve as directors. One in particular now co-trustee was selling his common stock and that of his friends to the public with full knowledge of the situation under investigation.

"In my case I was making a desperate effort to salvage something out of the wreck.

"Any gift or present I have made my wife or members of my family is not company money. She had no knowledge of any nature or description of my situation or operations. My brothers-in-law both did as I asked them because they thought it was right and proper to do so and trusted me. They received no material reward and did so blindly—at my request.

"My wife was in Florida when the account of Stelner Rouse was opened. I simply wanted to make her a gift with which she could make a little for her maintenance in case anything happened to me.

"I asked her to sign a check that I wanted to make some money for her—the money came out of the Jenkins account, which I ordered him to pay over to his sister as personally I wanted no profit. This amount originally given to Jenkins was my money realized from the sale of McKesson stock and the balance after paying off my loans plus profit.

"In conclusion, as you shall deal with my poor unfortunate wife, her family and mine, in like measure shall God reward you all.

"And know that there are no hidden treasures anywhere.

"My poor wife is the innocent victim of my frantic operations to hold up this concern of McKesson—my brothers-in-law, Leonard and John Jenkins, who did what I asked them to do, thinking and believing in me that it was right, have no business experience and full confidence in me which I betrayed. George and Robert Dietrich took orders.

"McKesson should have been in receivership in 1930 and again in 1932 if its profits had not been bolstered in a frantic effort to save the company—and the alleged millions 'lost' are simply 'profits' to save the company from the hands of the bondholders and afford a dividend at least to the preferred stock in the hand of innocent stockholders that were not getting salaries for the rottenest kind of management.

"In other words, in the main, they were wash sales to create a profit that did not exist, and what is missing is the alleged profits plus expenses and blackmail money to maintain it.

"It was a case of who could put the company into receivership first to stop the orgie first—Wall Street lawyers on the board won. As God is my judge, I am the victim of Wall Street plunder and blackmail in a struggle for honest existence.

"O merciful God, bring the truth to light.

(Signed) F. D. COSTER."

Italy Considers 1935 Pact 'No Longer Valid'

Paris, Dec. 22 (AP).—The foreign office announced today that the Italian government had notified France through Andre Francois-Poncet, ambassador to Rome, that Italy considers the 1935 Mussolini-Laval convention concerning Tunisia "no longer valid."

Officials declined to disclose the text of the Italian communication or to give any indication of what action the French government might take.

"Premier Mussolini" and Pierre Laval, then French premier, on January 7, 1935, reached an agreement for the protection until 1965 of Italians in Tunisia, French North African protectorate, to retain Italian citizenship. Tunisia has been the chief target of recent Italian clamor for French territory.

ing as a resident of the town he believed that steps should be taken to alleviate conditions. Attorney DeWitt said, in reply to questions, that he was informed that the company would not settle any claims in excess of $25. It was brought out that the company had made repairs to some chimneys that had been damaged. He said that the reason the petitioners were submitting the petition asking the town to take action was to save legal expenses for the signers.

Several of the signers of the petition who were present at the meeting spoke briefly of the damage to their properties by the blasts that had been set off.

Weekly Production Of Electricity Hit A New High Record

A new record for the weekly production of electricity was made in the week ended December 17, when the total output was 2,332,978,000 kwh, an increase of 5.3 per cent over the same week last year and 12,000,000 kwh above the previous record made during the week of September 4, 1937.

Carloadings for the week are estimated to have shown a more than seasonal decline. Indications are that loadings were around 603,000 cars against 619,340 in previous week.

Gross revenues of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the first 15 days of December were 10.7 per cent above the 1937 period. The road had net income in November of $2,822,230, compared with a deficit of $1,311,129 in November last year. The first eight railroads to report for November showed aggregate gross of 3.6 per cent more than a year ago.

Dullness still featured the stock market yesterday, with losses shown for the day in trading that totaled 1,060,000 shares. Industrial stock averages, as shown in the Dow-Jones list, were down 0.88 point for the day, to 149.58; rails lost 0.14 point, to 29.95 and 21.74. London market was dull, with stocks slightly up, as holiday season nears. Paris Bourse was strong.

Fourth quarter earnings of airplane producers will drop below those of the first nine months of 1938, but total profits and production, for the year, will be the best on record. The production decline is seen as due to technical causes and to be temporary.

With prices said to be around season per cent below a year ago dollar volume of retail sales in the New York metropolitan area is one to two per cent below the 1937 level. Unit volume of sales is reported well above last year.

Trade reports indicate that at least 100,000 tons of steel rail business is pending. The roads are also showing renewed interest in rolling stock.

Decline in movement of both bituminous and anthracite coal is said to have been the chief cause in reducing car loadings last week. Coal production in the U. S. for the week is placed at more than a million tons under the 1937 period.

Kaufman Department Stores declared a dividend of 13 cents on the new common stock. Bellanca Aircraft Corp. ordered a cash dividend of 40 cents; paid 50 cents a year ago in four per cent four year notes.

Buck reports December sales running ahead of a year ago by nearly 30 per cent. Continuing demand for Lincoln-Zephyrs has caused stop-up of production to 150 units a day.

New York, Dec. 22 (AP).—Rail stocks worked up a fair amount of rallying steam in today's market, but aircrafts again hit air pockets for sizable losses and many other issues lacked rising stamina.

Deals jogged along at a moderately even pace, with transfers for the full session at the rate of approximately 1,900,000 shares. Prices were ragged near the final hour.

Bonds and commodities displayed the same divergent tendencies as stocks.

Illinois Central posted a new high and fraction gains were shown for Santa Fe, N. Y. Central, Southern Railway, Great Northern, Northern Pacific and Douglas & Hudson.

Among lesser losers were Boeing, United Aircraft, Sperry and Glenn Martin. Narrow were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Kennebec, Consolidated Edison and Westinghouse.

Resistant were American Car & Foundry, Pullman, du Pont, Anaconda, American Telephone and Montgomery Ward.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 22 (AP)—The Studebaker Corporation today gave its salaried employees a Christmas present in the form of an announcement that their wage cuts of last April would be cancelled January 1. The reductions were on a sliding scale from 10 per cent on the first $1,800 of annual salary to 25 per cent on the highest salary brackets. Paul G. Hoffman, president, said the restorations were made possible by the business outlook for 1939.

Car Leaves Road; Two in Collision On Icy Highways

Despite the icy condition of the roads yesterday, which made driving a chancy proposition, but two road accidents were reported to the sheriff's office.

About 3 o'clock a car driven by A. C. Addis of Kerhonkson skidded and left the road, striking a telephone pole near the intersection of Route 209 and the road leading to High Falls. Deputies Vredenburg and Winn assisted. No injuries were reported.

The other accident was a collision about 4:45 o'clock at West Hurley, when two persons were slightly injured. A car driven by Leo Lances of Flushing, L. I., headed east, collided with a car driven by James M. Whitnev of Halcott Center, who was going toward his home. Mrs. Lances received bruises about the head and knee and Miss Whitney had an injured knee.

Grand Jury Holds Ford for Murder

Arnold C. Ackerley, at the County Line Tavern at Montela on November 13, 1938, and stabbing Ackerley. The complainant appeared before the grand jury as a witness and requested that the prosecution be dropped. He stated that the attack probably was provoked by something he had done or said and he claims the incident should have been avoided and that he now does not desire any prosecution of Patruco with whom he has discussed the facts. With the dismissal is filed a letter from the fact that he may have provoked the incident and in which he requests that the matter be dropped.

Willis Quick, held for rape, second degree, was not indicted. Under Section 2010 there is lack of corroboration. The grand jury recommends that affiliation proceedings be taken.

Thompson, charged with conspiracy, no indictment.

Charles Moslen, robbery, first degree, no indictment.

Percy Crispell, rape, second degree, no indictment. The charge is dismissed at the request of the complainant. The complainant and Crispell have since been married.

Condition Is Good

Passaic, N. J., Dec. 22 (AP)—The condition of Mrs. Arthur C. Way, 27, of Ridgewood, who gave birth to a six-pound girl two days ago although she has been paralyzed from the waist down since August, was reported good at Passaic General Hospital today. A patient for three months in Bergen Pines Hospital following an attack of infantile paralysis, Mrs. Way returned to her home about a month ago. She went to the Passaic Hospital Tuesday.

To Hold Hearing On Policeman Job

The town board of the village of Highland will hold a public hearing on Wednesday, December 28, to determine whether or not the post of a town policeman should be eliminated or not.

Affected by the decision is Town Policeman Walter Clarke, who has held the position for the last two or three years. The town board at its last regular meeting decided, as an economical step, to abolish the post on December 31. Friends of the policeman rallied and two or three petitions are reported to have been circulated, asking that he be continued on duty.

The board held that services of a traffic officer were minimized by the opening of the new cut-off and it was pointed out that a state police outpost is maintained in the village.

Walter H. Rieley and Miss Minnie E. Rieley are spending the Christmas holidays in Bridgeport, Conn., with relatives.

Fechner reported 29,360 men were enrolled at 67 camps in New York during the 1938 fiscal year.

40 Persons Are Arrested

Belfast, Dec. 22 (AP)—Northern Ireland police arrested 40 persons suspected of being members of the banned Irish republican army during the night in a new campaign against the organization. Scores of houses were searched and police said piles of documents of the association were found. All the prisoners were held under armed guard.

Jersey Reds Win

Last night at Troy the Haymakers lost to the Jersey Reds by the narrow margin of 34-33.

Two Men Held On Larceny Count

When the janitor of the building came into the store and told him two men were removing the machinery from the factory. Mr. Krayem hurried over to the building and it was then that he arrested Pleau, who is said to be a brother of the factory operator, and the negro, Gholston, who was with Pleau as his helper.

Mr. Krayem alleges that when he reached the building he found that one of the sewing machines, which he owns, which is valued at $300 had been removed from the floor of the factory, placed in a container and taken down to the first floor with the intention of loading it onto a truck.

Samuel Pleau claims that he was sent here by the proprietor of the factory with orders to remove the machinery and place it on a truck.

Mr. Krayem claims that entrance to the third floor was obtained by taking off the hinges from the door.

Station attendants said that Christmas had become ill while riding in a northbound train and had got off at the station when he was stricken.

May Be Home

London, Dec. 22 (AP)—The court room tomato topper, Frank Harrison, may spend Christmas at home. The two justices at whom he tossed tomatoes because they refused an appeal in a minor case related, accepted his apologies and set him free on the 19th day of a six-week sentence.

Would Encourage Industry Cincinnati, Dec. 22 (AP)—Senator Pat Harrison (D., Miss.) left with an audience here today a statement that the government's "wiser policy" would be to encourage industry to give employment rather than continue the present relief program. "Whatever benefits may have come from these (government) expenditures," he said, "there are tens of thousands of our citizens whose rugged characters have been affected and whose views on life and government have been transformed," said the chairman of the Senate finance committee last night in a University of Cincinnati lecture.

By L. L. STEVENSON

Ramblings and ruminations: A jittery young man trying to adjust his life before a mirror in a Broadway restaurant window... and making a rather poor job of it... A newsboy darting into traffic at Forty-fourth street to rescue a bedraggled and bewildered little dog... and a taxicab driver shrilling to a stop with a shout of "Attaboy!"... Theater folk bound here and there for matinees... With patrons beginning to assemble in theater lobbies... Seems good to see marquee illuminated again after weeks of darkness... and to see chorus girls assembling in response to casting calls... A blind violinist playing "Alexander's Ragtime Band"... Which takes me back to the old days when Henry Montgomerly had a new player-piano... Sad sight: A beautiful little girl walking on crutches... With one foot dangling uselessly... Three drivers jockeying for a vacant space which is marked plainly, "One Taxicab!"

See food display in a restaurant window looking like a work of art... With brook trout as the centerpiece... But they don't taste like the trout cooked with bacon beside some swift-flowing river... With the scent of pine and balsam in the air... A group of girls all wearing those hats with a feather sticking up like a spear... Makes me want to give an Indian war whoop... Buyers from out-of-town roaming the wholesale district... They get trips to New York... But they work every minute of their stay... If they want to hold their jobs... Shoe models entering a Seventh avenue establishment... and they have looks as well as perfect feet... Seventh avenue in the garment district no place for one in a hurry... Gesticulating crowds make sidewalk progress difficult.

That gray-haired traffic officer on duty on Forty-fifth street during the theater hour... Works with a smile and a pleasant word now and then... and gets results even from taxi-drivers... and a lone peddler of bachelor buttons... He gets as much for a blue bloom as the gardenia seller does for a white one... A panhandler with a beautiful black eye... Maybe it's only a part of his make up... As years come on me, I grow more suspicious... A bewildered Frenchman trying to get information from a still more bewildered theater doorman... Maybe the visitor takes the doorman for a gendarme... But a volunteer, with a command of French, straightens things out... and the Frenchman goes jauntily on his way.

Backwater streets in the vicinity of Brooklyn bridge... Where the dark-skinned residents bring pictures of the Near East... Little shops in charge of swarthy ancients... Who seem to resent the entrance of a customer... But who come to life when bargaining... Barges beginning to assemble in Coenties Slip... By the time winter comes, there will be a whole colony of them... Barge children get a break... They do not start school until their floating homes are tied up for the winter... Curious little curant cakes in store windows... Sailors entering Seamen's Church institute... Where they find a home until they ship again.

Wonder what's become of all the canes that used to be carried on New York streets?... Only see one on occasions now... and not so long ago, the tap-tapping was a part of the Times Square scene... Spats seem to have disappeared also... But with my new blue suit I'm all set for winter... Brooks Atkinson who writes critical pieces about the theater... Cameron Hall, the cockney porter in "Come Across," whose stage name is Lacey... But I don't spell my middle name with an "e"... Joe Howard who is nearing 75 but who is still turning out songs.

Subway talk: "Knowin' he can't fight, I asks him if he wants to make sumpin' outta it—that's how I got this shiner."

Ship's Stowaway Seems Destined Never to Leave LONDON.—On board the British liner Salomona is a man who may be forced to spend the rest of his life at sea.

Two years ago he boarded ship as a stowaway and there he has stayed because 30 countries have refused to admit him.

Leo, as his fellow shipmates have christened him, is deaf and dumb, and is believed to be French, but is unable to produce any definite proof of his nationality or birthplace.

Recently the captain made Leo an assistant steward on salary.

Roll Customers Halifax (N.S.)—More than half Halifax's bootlegging "johns" were not satisfied with selling liquor but had to "roll" their customers as well. Inspector B. S. Tracey of the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission testified in a liquor-selling prosecution.

The word zero comes originally from a Sanskrit term meaning "void."

Christmas Party At Weyhe Studio

The pupils of Emilia Weyhe were entertained Tuesday evening at their annual Christmas party and entertainment. In addition to the program of dancing which was given, Mrs. Sophia Muller presented two of her art students, Robert Baird and Morton Adosefsky in a few minutes of crayon sketching, and Leo Herbert, who has been a featured member of the yearly closing exercises in June, gave a delightful interview relating last minute happenings behind the curtain for the opening of the New York presentation of "Ringside Seat," in which he played a well accepted role. By the light of the studio Christmas tree, Mrs. Jack Osterhout of Stone Ridge read an entertaining Christmas story.

The program of dancing was as follows: Double clog routine, Victoria Nozema, Betty Rossler and Elsie Katona; Ballerina, Doris Burt; study in grace, Marion and Dorothy Mulhurn; Moment Rhythmic, Marilyn Kuntz; Little Lady Make Believe, Elizabeth French; Young Charm, toe solo, Jean Osterhout; Spirit of Christmas, tap solo, Betty Rossler; Italian Beggar Girl, character dance, Victoria Nozema; Buck and Wing, tap solo, Evamay Gildersleeve; Spanish dance, character dance, Elsie Katona; Dainty Toes, baby ballet, Julia Verigan.

The last half of the program consisted of: Army's pride, military tap, Doris Burt; new rhythm in taps, Evamay Gildersleeve; singing and dancing doll, Beverly Smith; In a Classroom, tap solo, Marilyn Kuntz; Little Miss from Holland, clog solo, Elizabeth French; In Dutch Spirit, buck and wing tap, Jean Osterhout; Dutch Dancers, clog, Dorothy and Marion Mulhurn; accordion solo, "Over the Waves," Victoria Nozema; In Swing Time, tap, Dorothy Mulhurn; Military Style, tap, Julia Verigan; Park Avenue Trio, tap with cane dance, Victoria Nozema, Betty Rossler and Elsie Katona; Alexander's Rag Time, entire company.

Two Parties Held At Y.W. Wednesday

Numerous parties are enlivening the Y. W. C. A. this week as the various clubs hold their Christmas celebrations. The business Girls' Club held its annual Christmas dinner last evening. A special menu was served the members as they sat at tables placed around the lighted Christmas tree, which, with the burning red candles on the tables forming the only illumination. Following supper Miss Laura Bailey led the carol singing and Mrs. William S. Ellinge accompanied them at the piano.

Gifts of toys, which had been brought for exchange by the members, were distributed by Santa Claus and later placed under the tree to be given to the Mayor's Christmas Cheer committee. The evening was closed with the playing of games at which Miss Helen Anderson won the honors in the Christmas telegram contest. Those whose birthdays fall in December were given special recognition and a musical cake dish which played, "Happy Birthday to You," added much to the occasion.

The afternoon was a large and gala occasion when 165 grade school Girl Reserves held their annual party. For the program two plays were presented, one by the Friendly Triangle Club directed by Mrs. Edward P. Ward and the other by the Y's Ones Club directed by Miss Genevieve Monteleone. In the Friendly Triangle play Rose Ward played the xylophone and Helen Ward played the violin. Christmas carol singing and the serving of refreshments brought the party to a close.

The last in the series of Christmas parties will be held this evening when the Cheerios will have supper followed by the singing of carols and the playing of games.

Couples Club Has Party

The annual Christmas party of the Y. M. C. A. Couples Club, which was so ably directed by Host and Hostesses Mr. and Mrs. William W. Brady, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis T. Bookwalter, proved a most enjoyable evening at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday evening. Each person brought a present which after the affair was given to Russell H. Broughton, Scoutmaster, whose Scout troop is planning a Christmas party for the Scouts at the Willwyck school, West Park. Following the play planned Christmas program of games and stunts, a buffet supper was enjoyed by the club members around the gaily lighted and decorated Christmas tree. President William W. Brady, Jr., reported that the group has presented to the Y. M. C. A. an American and a Y. M. C. A. flag, which hangs in front of the entrance on Broadway, also a complete set of 12 volumes (leather bound) of the Century Dictionary and Encyclopedia.

Many Trees Grown

Danville (N)—Nurserymen in this vicinity have completed the digging of approximately 2,000-000 fruit and ornamental trees, shipping half of them to various parts of the county and storing the remainder for spring delivery. Damage done by deer to the young trees this year was less than last, Charles W. McNair, former president of the State Nurserymen's Association, said. Last year the animals caused several thousands of dollars damage.

If a person is saying all things about you, why not live so that others will know he is a liar?

Colonials Trim Barons, 41-30; Kingston High Wins by 44-24

Kingston Puts on Spurt in 2nd Frame To Upset Visitors

Kaplan Makes 14

Feigl Adds 10 for Colonials Who Play Jewels Next—Jimmy Brown Stars for Wilkes-Barre

The Kingston Colonials rumbled right in behind the Philadelphia Barons to take undisputed possession of second place in the American Basketball League, last night by defeating the Wilkes-Barre Barons, 41-30, before a crowd of eager game fans at the municipal auditorium.

And, the thunder arising from their victory, starting Sammy Kaplan and Bernie Feigl, as the chief pointmakers, gave off the sound of championship hopes for Barney Sedran's tossers, one of the best band of calfskin pushers ever to represent this city in any league.

Jimmy Brown, former Colonial, was the sensation of the Barons' attack, dumping in four fields and two fouls for 10 points. Brownie added eight of those markers in the first period, displaying a brand of ball that he wasn't allowed to show with the old Kingston club as a rookie. However, Jimmy was topped off in the second frame and collected only two more points in a deuce in the closing chukker.

If Kingston continues to hit the pace the team has shown in its last two games, against the Phillies last week, and Wilkes-Barre last night, there is little chance of any club in the loop of John J. O'Brien running them out in the first half title, and the American League championship for this season.

"The team is clicking as I predicted it would," said Manager Barney Sedran after last night's bash, "and I am well satisfied with the way the boys are doing. But, I admit, our chances didn't look so good in that first period."

Wilkes-Barre led at the termination of the initial stanza, 15-11. In the opening frame, Brown was hotter than a boiling kettle. He popped in sensational deuces, or six markers, and kept two fouls. Martens and Rip Kapinsky helped out with five points. Nat Frankel and Feigl with four each, and Kaplan with a two-pointer and Jules Bender with a free one made up the Colonials' 11.

The Sedranites knotted the tally at 15-11 soon after the starting horn in the second frame and shot into the lead mainly by Kaplan's 10 points on five fields. A spectacular shot that brought just cheers from the fans. Kramer dumped in two deuces and Feigl and Reiser added the rest of the Kingston points for 20 points in this stanza.

Lee was the only Baron able to hit the net for two from scrimmage in the visitors' attack for the second period and Martens with three points and Schuckmann with one foul helped run up the Wilkes-Barre total for the frame to eight. The tally at the end of this session was 31-23 in favor of Kingston.

During the closing period Chuck Reiser stood out as the Colonial drive, caging two nice fields. Frankel, Feigl and Kaplan did the rest of the scoring. Bainbridge, Schuckmann, Brown and Kapinsky, with a foul, gave the Penn quintet its seven markers.

Jewels Next
After that first period scare the Barons threw into the fans, the Colonials really went to work with a few shifts in the lineup, called for by Manager Sedran, one of the craftiest baseball generals of the day. With Reiser, Fitzpatrick and Kramer in the game, earning down the Barons, and passing the ball like lightning, the boys of Joe Dreyfus hadn't a moment's chance; and Jim Feigl and Kaplan, digging up the ball, to score their colorful shots, the tide ran heavy in favor of Kingston.

Next on the schedule of the Colonials is that Jewel team. Sunny Sedran and Company meet the third place New Yorkers on their court and Monday, the metropolitan favorites play at the municipal auditorium.

KELLY'S CORNER • BY JOE KELLY

Brown Needed a Chance— Fliegel a Natural

Jimmy Brown, the old Colonial crooner was the sparkplug of the Wilkes-Barre attack last night. Said Barney Sedran, "Brown is a nice ballplayer." Jimmy didn't have a chance when he was with the local outfit. Allie Schuckmann is one of those double-talk pests. Ask Mickey Husta, Barney Sedran or Paul Zucca, Jr., about their experience with him in the dressing room. That meeting between Mickey and Joe Dreyfus, Barons' coach, was quite a scene. First they'd had a chance to chat in some time. Needless to say Nick told him about that fine big boy of his, who's just beginning to walk. "Dry ice" Lee was recognized by Johnny "Duke" Miller as the boy who once thumbed his nose at the local fans. "Better behave this time," advised the Duke. He has a memory like a Jumbo.

Tommy Maines, prospective Syracuse grid star, was among the spectators who saw the Colonials win another. He friends kept him busy with congratulatory handshakes for his accomplishments as a frosh. He's a great kid and we wish him lots of luck. Bernie Feigl must have been born with a basketball in his hand. How he handles that calfskin! Those side shots and overhead passes were honest. The scorecard for Sammy Kaplan's second period efforts looked like a Chinese prayer-book, all marked up.

Mosconi Plays At Nick's Tonight

Tonight at 9:15, Willie Mosconi, one of the greatest pocket billiard players in the world, will appear at the Nick Kaslich billiard academy in an exhibition match he will play against Ray Johnson, local cuedist, who made such an impressive showing against Andrew Ponzi in an exhibition earlier in the season.

Mosconi, a rapid fire player, has recently been acclaimed the world's professional champion because of the failure of Jimmy Caras, winner of the title last year, to accept his challenge for a championship match.

After the match Mosconi will give an exhibition of trick shots and is ready to answer any question on pocket billiards. The admission is free.

Duke Scores and Scores on Screen For U.S.C. Team

Los Angeles, Dec. 22 (AP)—The master-minds of the Duke and Southern California football teams seem to have started early playing the psychology angles on the rival Rose Bowl foes.

The Duke board of strategy went to work quickly, firing up the Blue Devils with excerpts of caustic Los Angeles comment when they were first selected for the Pasadena battle, and then three days ago came the famous lace pantie gag, wherein co-captains, Eric Tipton and Dan Bill, each received a pair of demure unmentionables from an anonymous sender.

The firm belief exists here that the mailing address of these fancy scanties was no farther distant from the Duke gymnasium than the Durham, N. C. postoffice, and the thoughtful sender one of the Duke master-minds.

Now Professor Howard Harding Jones of the U. S. C. grid school apparently is going in for the psychology treatment. The professor assembled random newsreel shots of the Dukes in action this fall. At first every supposed the collection would merely show the inner workings of the seven blocks of Blue Devil. But no! The Jones newsreel production showed nothing except fast-breaking shots of Duke scoring touchdowns—touchdown after touchdown.

Cardinals Took Slugging Honors

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Slugging honors in the National League last season went to the St. Louis Cardinals, individually and collectively, although even in the middle of winter this must seem an empty reward for the Gas House gang, who finished 16th, while the Chicago "Cubs" won the pennant without a pay-injury which have occurred to many of the outstanding players of the American League during the past month and a half, competition has been unusually keen and spirited, so that only a few games separate the first and fifth club. Troy has been beset with injuries to Moe Frankel, Stanton, Husta, Sylvan and Bass since the beginning of the campaign, despite which the Haymakers have established their ability beyond question and had they been in position to retain the full use of their injured stars, the Troy club would unquestionably be close to the pace-making position.

"During the past week the Jewels broke even with the Washington Brewers and the Jersey Reds divided with the Wilkes-Barre Barons and Wilkes-Barre returning the compliment at the Jersey Reds' court last Sunday afternoon. Philadelphia also took a doubleheader from Troy and lost at Kingston. Troy earned a victory over the Heurich Brewers at Washington, while Brooklyn Visitations were inactive."

Galehouse Sure He'll Win Games

Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 22 (AP)—Dennis Galehouse is confident he will win plenty of ball games for the Boston Red Sox next season if the club gives him regular work.

The former Cleveland pitcher, traded recently in a deal for Ben Chapman, believes the lack of a regular assignment was the main reason for his failure to live up to expectations with the Indians.

"Cleveland always had an over-supply of pitchers," Galehouse said. "and I didn't get as much regular work as I felt I should to reach top form."

Galehouse predicted the Red Sox would give the New York Yankees a real fight for the American League pennant next year.

Tinsley caught 41 aeriels to tie the league mark set by Hutson in 1937. Hutson's 548 yards gained on aeriels, nine touchdowns and 34 points topped the circuit in those departments.

Wood Cuff of the New York Giants and Ralph Kercheval, the Brooklyn Dodgers' veteran back, tied for the lead in field goal kicking at five each, two more than the total of Jack Manders of the Chicago Bears. Kercheval's 45-yard boot was the longest of the season.

Yawkey Sells Off Expensive Players

New York, Dec. 22 (AP)—Disillusioned and dispirited, young Tom Yawkey appears to be taking a sadistic delight in tearing apart the Boston Red Sox team on which he spent upward of $1,000,000 a few years ago, and which finally rewarded him with second place in the American League last season.

The trade which sent infielder Eric McNair to the Chicago White Sox in exchange for Rose Berger lopped off one more of the galaxy of stars for whom Yawkey handed old Connie Mack an estimated $500,000. The members of "Yawkey's Folly" are being replaced by inexpensive youngsters.

Yawkey said last spring he would give his "Millionaires" one more fling, and thereafter would develop his own players. The past season must have convinced him that a young and great team would be needed to overhaul the Yankees.

Of three expensive pitchers purchased from Connie Mack, Ruben Weisberg and Johnny Marcano have disappeared from the big show, and Lefty Grove probably pitched his final nine-inning game last season. Wes Ferrel, another prize of the biggest spending spree in baseball history, is winding up as a relief pitcher for the Yankees.

Yawkey bought four of Mack's infielders, and the only one left is the veteran Jimmy Fox, who made a sensational comeback the past campaign to win the American League batting crown.

Jess Shultis and Andy Murphy Are Highest Scorers

Jayvees Win

Hallenbeck Makes 13 for Saugerties, Highest Tally of Night—Maroon Juniors Post 26-12 Victory

A much improved Kingston High School basketball team took the floor last night in Saugerties and trimmed the up-river contingent 44 to 24. Roy Hallenbeck, of the home team, took the scoring honors, ripping the twine for 13 points. Jess Shultis and Andy Murphy, Kingston's two spark-plugs, came through with 11 and 10, respectively.

In the preliminary Dick Whittles the Maroon warriors were faced with the same problem as last Friday. But Andy Murphy proved to be the man on the spot when the chips were down by socking the hoop for four additional deuces to run his total to 10. Murphy's quick pivot shots and beautifully executed layups took the spotlight during the third session when the Klammen continued on the war-path.

Hallenbeck, the top scorer of the game, put Saugerties back into the battle during this chapter with two more set shots combined with a deuce by Heynolds. Kingston again led on the third period ended 35 to 19.

A newcomer to the Maroon ranks gave Kingston something more to talk about throughout the final period. He was Buddy Hughes, who broke in at guard and contributed five markers.

Just as the gun sounded ending the brawl, Ray Lindhurst, who gathered six points throughout the game, flipped in his final set shot to give Kingston the game 44 to 24.

Kingston's next game will be a return engagement with Saugerties at the municipal auditorium next Tuesday evening. It will be the Klammen's home-coming contest.

out in front by 10-2.
Maroon Continues
Another spectacular side shot by Hallenbeck started the second session for Saugerties and Heynolds followed with a charity marker. Murphy cleaned his only two points of the initial half after Robinson's shot as he poured in a deuce from close in. Shultis, Lindhurst and Dublin' returned quickly to pump in three more fields to shove the local high school cagers far into the lead.

Bob Naudain, Saugerties' right forward, swept into action at the five minute mark with a field and two fouls but once again the powerhouse drive of the Klammen raised in shots of all varieties to keep them in a comfortable position.

Two more hook shots by Jess Shultis, who was back in his top form again added further dominance for the Klammen but his last lifter proved serious. As he was shooting Jess turned his ankle on the wheel-around and had to leave the game. "Whittles" Dougherty came in for the replacement.

With Jess Shultis on the sidelines the Maroon warriors were faced with the same problem as last Friday. But Andy Murphy proved to be the man on the spot when the chips were down by socking the hoop for four additional deuces to run his total to 10. Murphy's quick pivot shots and beautifully executed layups took the spotlight during the third session when the Klammen continued on the war-path.

Hallenbeck, the top scorer of the game, put Saugerties back into the battle during this chapter with two more set shots combined with a deuce by Heynolds. Kingston again led on the third period ended 35 to 19.

A newcomer to the Maroon ranks gave Kingston something more to talk about throughout the final period. He was Buddy Hughes, who broke in at guard and contributed five markers.

Just as the gun sounded ending the brawl, Ray Lindhurst, who gathered six points throughout the game, flipped in his final set shot to give Kingston the game 44 to 24.

Kingston's next game will be a return engagement with Saugerties at the municipal auditorium next Tuesday evening. It will be the Klammen's home-coming contest.

Leaders to Confer About WPA Funds

Senate and House Officials
 Arrange to Meet President to Consider Amount

Washington, Dec. 22 (AP)—In view of a disclosure that WPA will be out of money by February 7, Senate and House leaders arranged today to confer soon with President Roosevelt on the amount of an emergency appropriation.

John L. Lewis, CIO leader, declared that $1,000,000,000 would be needed for relief purposes until July 1, but estimates on Capitol Hill ranged from $500,000,000 to $750,000,000.

Whatever the amount finally decided on, it appeared likely Congress would take up the appropriation shortly after it meets January 3. Aubrey Williams, deputy WPA administrator, said yesterday that unless Congress turns over more money at once, the relief agency must begin cutting its rolls January 26 and close down entirely 12 days later.

Forum on Social Security
 Held at Spencer's School

Following a series of group instruction given by the local executives of the Social Security unit, there was given by Mr. Fitch Tuesday afternoon, a general resume before the entire student body of Spencer's Business School. Questions and answers were submitted freely.

The open forum became so interesting and contained so much valuable information that it occupied the entire afternoon session. The students and faculty of S.B.S. appreciate the first hand knowledge they have obtained concerning this important government act, as it will be a decided influence on their future.

Mrs. Dull Gets 15-Year Sentence

'Office Wife' Is Found Guilty
 by Michigan Jury of Slaying William Holbrook

St. Joseph, Mich., Dec. 22 (AP)—Mrs. Fern Patricia Dull, convicted of manslaughter for the fatal shooting October 17 of the man she considered her common law husband, was sentenced today to serve 14 to 15 years in the Detroit House of Correction.

Circuit Judge Mark D. Taylor denied a motion for a new trial. The blond "office wife" of William Holbrook, attorney, whose death in a street near the Benton Harbor police station ended their nine-year romance, stood before Judge Taylor this morning. "Have you anything to say?" he asked.

"No," she replied in a weak voice. A jury composed of two housewives and 10 men, mostly farmers, returned the verdict last night after deliberating from noon.

Gives Formula

Buffalo (AP)—Recipe for a happy Christmas marriage, as outlined by Eudice Shapiro, 22-year-old concert violinist. "Let both partners have separate careers. See each other once in a while, just long enough to get reacquainted. That way there's never a dull moment." Miss Shapiro was married last July to Victor Gottlieb, cellist in the Coolidge string quartet, who tours most of the time, too.
